Promote student success through an interconnected campus

Among the many challenges facing higher education today, institutions struggle to administer and integrate stand-alone technologies amid resource and budget constraints. Not only are siloed systems costly to secure and maintain, but they also fail to meet the rising expectations of faculty, staff, students, and parents.

To overcome this challenge, institutions work to create an environment that connects people, processes, and technology. But far too often, critical applications, such as payment and credentials systems, reside alone and fail to integrate with the entire institution.

Ellucian Payment Center by TouchNet[®] is the foundation for unifying campus-wide payments. By bringing together constituents—including students, parents, and staff—in one commerce platform, institutions

“We like to say our goal is your success. We want to give our students the tools to be successful, not just inside the classroom but outside as well. We chose TouchNet[®] because we needed a strategic partner that understood the complexity of campus payments and who specialized in higher education.”
